euroart.colonies CALL FOR APPLICATIONS / EUROART SCHOLARSHIP 2025 / ZUKUNFT – FUTURE

The three European artists' colonies Dachau, the island Hiddensee and Worpswede are awarding the EUROART Scholarship 2025 for the first time as part of the EUROART network (European Federation of Artists' Colonies).

They are looking for artistic positions on the theme "Future" that deal with the concept in a creative, critical, or visionary way. The theme can be freely interpreted and explored in various disciplinary or interdisciplinary formats.

The scholarships will be awarded simultaneously at all three locations. In addition to artistic work, the focus is also on personal exchange with the local art and culture scene. Social integration on site is actively supported by the partner institutions.

Worpswede: Johannes Mundiger – Murals: barns, warehouses and silos with abstracted visions of the future

Hiddensee: Anna Westphal – Portrait of a Future

Dachau: Wolfram Hahn – Photographic Research in Dachau

Together, the three colonies bring their distinct experiences into a shared dialogue, creating both a common artistic language and a perspective on the future.

annawest2 EUROART RESIDENCY LOGBOOK

Four days of literally non-stop exploration of this tiny island of breathtaking Northern beauty lie behind. There have been numerous and surprising perceptions and meetings not so easy to place immediately, therefore the first entry into the logbook is only today. Much more about that in the coming days.

Today was the first real day in the historical (dream)studio of the family Kruse-Lietzenburg. The building (a hotel today) was built 1903-05 by Oskar Kruse-Lietzenburg (1847-1919), who - coming from a wealthy background - wanted to create an artists' colony with his heritage. ❤️

He was a painter himself, although his work is lesser known today. Oskar's brother Max (a sculptor) and his wife (world-famous doll inventor Kaethe Kruse) moved into the house and used the atelier after Oskar's death.

It cannot be described in another way, but this room - nowadays full of paintings from female artists (with the exception of three paintings by Oskar Kruse) - breathes air and art. Most grateful to be here.

EUROART residency logbook

It's not E.T. in my bicycle basket: It's yesterday's 8 hours of talks with people from Hiddensee - none of it planned. Everything developed from a small talk at the beach after the daily morning dip...
By the way: no private cars allowed on this island. A real Venice of the North.

EUROART residency logbook

The head is spinning from all these stories and information. Yet THE thing I was looking for is evasive like the last sunlight on the waves, or the pulse of the lighthouse. Today will be a full and very intense day at the atelier.
